See Treasures From Eight Outstanding Museums At GeoFair - May 5 & May 6 At Sharonville Convention Center

You would have to travel from Indiana to Maine to see all the breath-taking mineral and fossil specimens on display at GeoFair 2018. This year's roster of outstanding museum collections on display includes Cincinnati Museum Center, Ben E. Clement Mineral Museum, Cranbrook Institute of Science, Indiana State Museum, Limper Geology Museum of Miami University, Maine Mineral and Gem Museum, Wayne State University Geology Museum, and Wittenberg University.

GeoFair is Cincinnati's largest non-profit gem, mineral, fossil & jewelry show. The 53rd annual GeoFair will delight visitors over the first weekend in May.

10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.
Saturday, May 5
Sharonville Convention Center
11355 Chester Road

11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Sunday, May 6
Sharonville Convention Center
11355 Chester Road

GeoFair's themes this year are Calcite Crystals and Fossil Echinoderms, so visitors will find exceptional displays of specimens along these lines.

Admission to GeoFair is $9 for adults and $3 for children. A two-day adult pass is available for $12. Plentiful parking is free at the Sharonville Convention Center. Scouts in uniform get free admission, as do teachers with identification when accompanied by a paying adult. (A coupon for $2 off adult admission is offered for download at GeoFair.com )

Since 1965, GeoFair has introduced thousands of families to the pleasures of the earth sciences including collecting minerals and fossils, making jewelry and studying geology. Experts at GeoFair will identify any fossil or mineral specimens or any items of jewelry.. Dozens of displays showcase the rare "finds" of amateur collectors. GeoFair is produced by the Cincinnati Mineral Society and the Cincinnati Dry Dredgers, an association of amateur paleontologists.
